

2017 CAPE-NM Convention Speakers Will Estrada & Nancy Manos

Will Estrada

A homeschool graduate from Pennsylvania, Will began working for HSLDA in January 2004 as a legal assistant to Staff Attorney Scott Woodruff. After graduating from Oak Brook College of Law with his J.D., he moved on to direct HSLDA's Federal Relations department and to serve as HSLDA's federal lobbyist. As HSLDA's representative on Capitol Hill, Will uses his passion for homeschooling to advocate for all homeschoolers before Congress and meets with senior officials from federal agencies and the executive branch. He is a member of the U.S. Supreme Court bar and the California bar. Will, his wife Rachel, who is a homeschool graduate as well as an accomplished portrait artist, and their son reside in northern Virginia.

Nancy Manos and her husband James live in Chandler, Arizona. They have two daughters whom they homeschooled through high school. The Manos' home education journey was a rich, rewarding, sometimes challenging experience, and Nancy is passionate about encouraging others in the homeschool adventure. Nancy and James have served on the board of directors for Arizona Families for Home Education (AFHE) since 2004.
